OF LABOR, SAYS DICKIEMayor Rose, of Milwaukee,

He Declares There Is More Drunkenness in Maine than in Wisconsin—First of Three Debates.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 26.—One of the most remarkable debates ever held was that tonight on the question, "Resolved, That Prohibition, as Applied to the Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Beverages, Is Right," with Mayor David S. Rose, of Milwaukee, defending the negative, and Dr. Samuel Dickie, president of Albion college, Albion, Mich., as the speaker for the prohibitionists. The great hippodrome, with a seating capacity of 4,000, was jammed to the doors, and although admission was by card, great throngs of people were turned away. There were five applications for every ticket, and although the admission was free, tickets being issued to the various civic associations, offers of substantial sums for tickets were frequently made. This was the first of three debates, the second to be given at Chicago, and the third at some city in the south.

Mayor Rose, at the recent Louisville convention of the National Model Liquor League, challenged the national prohibition party to produce its best orator to meet him on the question debated tonight. No decision was rendered.

Liquor Enemy of Labor.
Mr. Dickie was the first speaker. He said, in part:—
"The prohibition of the liquor traffic is right, if considered only from the economic standpoint. The saloon is the foe of capital, but preeminently the enemy of labor. It paralyzes the arm of the workingman, shortens his life, excludes him from many lucrative callings, decreases his power as a producer and throws into the labor market a vast mass of debased and unintelligent laborers who compete disastrously with the sober and industrious workmen. No line of manufacture gives employment to so few men in proportion to the capital invested as does the liquor traffic. The liquor business breeds criminals, of the criminal courts warrants the assertion that from 80 to 90 per cent of crime is directly or indirectly traceable to the use of intoxicating liquors. Not only is the liquor traffic a breeder of criminals, but it is, itself, largely composed of men who do not hesitate to violate the law. The great majority of retail liquor sellers are open and notorious law-breakers. The friends of the liquor traffic are such as to condemn it by their own character and conduct. Conceding that a few men of fair respectability are its apologists, it nevertheless remains true that the lawless classes, the thieves, the gamblers, the thugs, the blacklegs, the outcasts, the harlots, the low and vile degraded of both sexes can be depended upon to the last man and the last woman, to stand with Milwaukee's saloonkeepers in their prohibition and advocating the saloon."

Prohibition Is Wrong.
In arguing that prohibition is wrong, Mayor Rose treated the subject from three viewpoints—the Biblical, ethical and material. He claimed that, while in ancient times the evil existed, when the Ten Commandments were written, no attempt was made to inject prohibition, and he challenged anyone to find one word in the Bible advocating the theories of the prohibitionists. Treating the subject from the ethical side, he took the census figures of the government and records of cities and states to prove that prohibition increased crime, insanity, deaths, domestic infelicity, pauperism and stagnated business. He took the criminal records of Milwaukee, a wide-open town, and showed that the arrests here per capita were less than in the prohibition states of Maine, Kansas and Georgia. He showed that more drunkenness existed in Maine than Wisconsin. He quoted census figures showing that more insanity existed in prohibition states than in neighboring "wet" states, and that the death rates in Maine and Kansas were higher than in the wet states adjoining.

Much was said about thousands of drunks dying every year, but the mayor again quoted census figures to show that more people died from whooping cough and measles than alcoholism. Of the latter disease, 6.4 persons in every 100,000 died, while of digestive diseases 291.3 in every 100,000 died.

Divorces in Prohibition States.
He quoted figures to show that there were more divorces in Kansas and Maine than in Wisconsin, a wet state; that prohibition states also had more paupers. He said the bank deposits of dry states were smaller than

BUT IN CONTEST TODAY.

While being tried out by its machinist over the course of today's hill-climb, the Lambert Friction Flyer yesterday afternoon burst a tire and turned tumble. The machinist was hurled through the air for more than 20 feet, but was only slightly injured. The machine will not be prevented from competing today in the contest by the accident. The mishap occurred shortly after 4 o'clock, while the machinist was driving the car rapidly up the incline. One of the front tires went down,
and the wheel immediately collapsed. The machine turned somersault and landed bottom-up. The rear seat was torn from the body. Another wheel was secured for the machine, which returned to the city under its own power. Within a short time the damages had been so far repaired as to put the machine in perfect working order
and insure its entrance in the contests today. The machine is entered by W. S. McNeil, Jr., of the Southern Auto Equipment Company, whose offices are located on Forsyth street.

Chug! Chug! W-h-l-z-z! and at 1 o'clock today the automobile hill-climb
of the Fulton County Automobile Association will be started, and from the time the first motorcycle is started off until the last of the big cars in the free-for-all event crosses the tape, all of the Atlanta automobile contingent,
and there are many of them, will be on the quiver of excitement.

This will be the largest automobile event that has ever been pulled off in Atlanta, and the largest hill-climb that has ever been attempted in the south.
"Hill-climb, hill-climb" has been the slogan on the streets, in the cars and in the homes of the people of Atlanta for the past month. It is expected that a stupendous crowd will be on hand.

The sanction of the Automobile Association of America has been obtained for the running of the hill-climb. This was obtained on Thursday by President
Ed H. Inman, of the Fulton County Automobile Association, after several letters and telegrams had passed between him and Mr. Hower, the chairman of the contest board of the Automobile Association of America. The final arrangements were made when Dick Jemison, the sporting editor of The Constitution, agreed to act as Mr.
Hower's representative in Atlanta, and guarantee the delivery of the prizes to the successful contestants.

Course Closed.
At 12 o'clock today the course will be closed, and after that hour no one but entrants in their turn will be permitted on the course. After 12 o'clock, no car can approach the course nearer
than the foot of the slope, and no pedestrian will be allowed on it unless they wear official badges. This is published

BLAZING AUTOMOBILE
SET RESIDENCE AFIRE

$2,000 House and $3,000 Car Burn

A two-story farm house, valued at $2,000, near Center Hill, on the river road, and a $3,000 automobile, the property of S. A. Osburn, of this city, were completely destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon, following the explosion of the automobile's gasoline tank. Less than ten minutes before the explosion
three ladies and a gentleman of this city quitted the machine, most probably escaping being horribly burned. The negro chauffeur, working on the car at the time, miraculously escaped injury.

The accident occurred shortly after 4 o'clock. A. W. Braselton, a well-known pharmacist of this city, in company with Mrs. R. L. Hardman and her two daughters, had gone to a farm of S. A.
Osburn, the purchase of which is contemplated by Braselton. Mr. Osburn's machine was used to make the trip.

Some distance from their destination
the chauffeur had trouble with the car.
He stated that something was wrong with the spark. Little was thought of the matter, however, and the trip continued. When the Osburn farm was reached the car was stopped near the farm house. Mr. Braselton, in order to inspect a peach orchard, left the car and walked some distance from the road. He was accompanied by the three ladies.

The party had been gone only a short time when they noticed a dense smoke

"PERSECUTION OF RELIGION

Paris, March 26.—Archbishop Ireland will sail tomorrow from Havre on board
the steamer LaTouraine for New York.
During his week's stay in Paris the archbishop has been the recipient of much attention. In an interview with the Associated Press tonight he said:

during my stay here I have formed the

PRES. ROOSEVELT'S ORDER
REVOKED BY PRES. TAFT

Washington, March 26.—The last remaining vestige of the Roosevelt order taking marines off the battleships
and cruisers of the United States navy
was swept away today when President Taft, after the matter had been considered at a cabinet meeting, directed that an order be issued restoring the marines to exactly the same duties they performed under the order issued by President Roosevelt. After consideration in the navy appropriation bill to the effect that a certain percentage of the marine corps
should be assigned to ship duty, an order was issued the day before President Roosevelt went out of office restoring the marines to ships, but placing them under the orders of the captains of the vessels on which they were to serve.

Under the old order of things, the marines were given specific duties.
One of these was to man certain guns of the secondary battery. The order placing them under the direction of the ship's captain made it possible to assign the marines to any sort of duty and to deprive them of manning any part of the ship's battery.

In restoring the old regulations, the president acted upon the recommendation of the general board of the navy.
The following memorandum was issued
on the subject at the white house:

"Upon the recommendation of the general board, it was decided at the cabinet meeting that the marines returning to the regulations adopted on March 3 in regard to the marines should be restored to the old regulations should be restored."

Indianapolis, Ind., March 26.—E. M.
Barney, superintendent of the Indianapolis district of the Anti-Saloon League, said today that he would refuse to sign a petition for a local option election in this county. He did not think conditions here favorable to a successful campaign at this time. Summer
W. Hayes, recently a candidate for governor on the prohibition ticket, and other active temperance workers, are circulating petitions for an option election and declare they will go forward with the crusade without the aid of the Anti-Saloon League. Meetings are to be called in the churches to bring about a non-partisan option organization.

George Alexander Wins.
Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—George
Alexander, municipal league and reform candidate for mayor, was elected at the recall election today. He de-normal vote is recorded.

THREE EXPLORERS WHO GOT WITHIN
111 MILES OF THE SOUTH POLE

Lieutenant E. H. Shackleton, of the British navy, and his party of antarctic
explorers, reached Invercargill,
New Zealand, on board their ship, the Nimrod, and report having penetrated
the ice locked fastnesses to within 111 miles of the south pole. A squad of Lieutenant Shackleton's party actually reached the magnetic pole, locating it at latitude 72.25. The explorer turned back at latitude 88.23, where they found vast fields of snow where the land was 9,000 feet in altitude. Lack of provisions forced the men to kill and eat
the ponies used to draw their sledges,
and they turned back when their goal
was almost in sight because they were starving and almost exhausted. The main sledge journey covered a distance of 1,708 miles. The expedition left England in July, 1907, and started on the overland trip from Hut point on November 3, 1908.

Mrs. Etta Longwell, woman
Suspected of Murdering Mrs.
Culbertson, Admits She Had Been Engaged to Mr. Culbertson—Clears Self of Suspicion

Vincennes, Ind., March 26.—Mrs. Jessie Lee Overton Culbertson, young woman of mystery, sad-hearted though a bride of three months, was not murdered. She slew herself after arranging an hysterical dramatic situation
to throw the murder on another woman. Her husband and relatives tearfully acknowledged today that their suspicions that she was killed at the instigation of another woman for jealous revenge, were unfounded.

The body of a miniature skeleton,
which had been attached to a skull
found in the pocket of Mrs. Culbertson's apron when she was discovered, gagged in a shed near her home last Wednesday, after swallowing carbolic acid, was found today near the shed beneath a pile of debris. This toy skeleton Mrs. Culbertson had in her possession months ago.

Proof that the skeleton wrote the anonymous threatening letters to herself was also established today. A letter she wrote to her husband at Bridgeport, Ill., is inscribed on stationery
just like that on which was pinned
the anonymous notes.

When the watermark of the letter
was shown to the husband and his parents, they asserted their belief that no murder had been committed, but that they would not let me. The people will understand the message."

"It is true, Senor Castro, that you have engaged a steamer in Europe to be used, if necessary, in a revolutionary movement against Venezuela?" he was asked.

"For the present, I have no such plans," he replied.

As the correspondent was leaving the cabin of Senor Castro, on board the Guadalupe, he was called back by the former president.

Looks Like Revolution.
"I want you to picture me to the world," he said, "as a man betrayed by false friends—a man who went forth
in search of health and now returns to establish his honor."

Notwithstanding Castro's protestations
that he did not contemplate a revolution,
his whole attitude bespoke the contrary.
Moreover, it is believed that, secretly,
he is gratified that he was not permitted to go to Venezuela, as it serves his purpose to pose as a martyr at a convenient place from which he can get into touch with his partisans.

He said: "I am sure the people are ready to receive me. The Gomez government seems to exclude me because it fears the country will proclaim me president."

Makes Charges Against City Engineer—Investigation Attracts Much Interest—Will Be Resumed Next Tuesday Morning.

The long-talked-of differences between the city engineer and the commissioner of public works came to a head yesterday morning, when an official investigation was begun by the following committee:

Mayor Robert F. Maddox, Aldermen
John S. Candier, F. A. Pittman, Marlin
F. Amorous and Press Huddleston, Councilman Craig Coffield and City Attorney James L. Mayson. Mr. Coffield took the place of Alderman H. M. Beau-tell, who is sick.

The investigation was finally boiled down to the simple proposition: Are the charges of the commissioner of public works true, that the city engineer has not properly looked after the paving of the city streets?

Commissioner Collier charged that the asphalt pavement was never properly laid, and that this was due to the inspection made by the city engineer at the time the paving was laid. Mr. Collier even went so far as to state that the city had been
"buncoed" in the matter of street
paving.

On the other hand, the city engineer claims that all the streets were paved according to specifications, and that the work was properly done.

Many Persons Present.
When the investigation opened in the mayor's committee room a large number of persons were present, including city officials and contractors.

The committee decided to carry on the investigation at certain stated hours. The first sitting was from 10 to 12 o'clock, when the city engineer was taken for dinner. The afternoon session was held between 2:30 and 6 o'clock.

With Alderman Candier, an ex-
supreme court and superior court judge, residing, with the city attorney
as solicitor, and with an array of witnesses.

RATE INCREASE BY RAILROADS WILL NOT STICK

Changes in Classification Which Have Been Made Will Be Withdrawn.

SHIPPERS UP IN ARMS
AGAINST THE INCREASE

It Is Stated by High Authority That All the Railroads Entering Atlanta Will Agree to Have the Old Rules as to Classes Kept in Effect—Injustice of Advance Shown.

The increase in freight rates, through a change in classification, of which shippers throughout the southeastern territory were given notice, as stated in yesterday's Constitution, will terminate just as soon as the railroads can get the consent of the interstate commerce commission to restore the old rules. This statement comes from an authoritative source and it is stated that all the southeastern lines will go back to the old rule.

The increase in rates was to be effected by a change in the minimum charge rule for interstate traffic. Under the old rule all shipments of less than 100 pounds were charged for at the rate for 100 pounds, according to the class in which the shipment fell. Under the new rule all shipments under 100 pounds were charged for at the rate for 100 pounds, first class, thus giving the highest possible rate.

The change went into effect March 20 and raised such a storm of protest from shippers and small merchants throughout the country that the roads have decided to rescind the order. Some were opposed to the change from the first, and have already given notice that they do not desire the change and all will be back on the old basis in a short time. The interstate commerce commission requires thirty days' notice for all changes, but in this instance it is said an exception may be made and this has already been asked by the roads.

Statement by a Shipper.

As an illustration of what the change would have meant, the following statement by a prominent shipper:

"Few people realize what it would have meant to the small general merchant throughout the south had the proposed change in the classification of freight rates remained effective. It now appears through some misunderstanding the new classification which practically raised the minimum shipment from 100 pounds to 200 pounds, was put into effect unintentionally.

It has practically doubled the freight rates on all shipments of 100 pounds and under, and it is a well-known fact that nearly 50 per cent of the shipments in the thirty-settled sections of the southeast average 100 pounds. A minimum rate of 200 pounds in the thickly-settled portion of the north and east is perhaps justifiable, as the people in these sections have at hand more money per capita, and the merchants in the east and north, as a rule, have three or four times as much capital in their business.

"The average southern country merchant buys articles for about 20 different staple articles in addition to his heavier goods, and the burden on him would have been very heavy had this proposed classification remained in effect. Some idea of this will be given by the following figures are noted. A merchant buys:

1 C. shoes, 25 pr. . . . . $ 50.00
1 C. suspenders . . . . . 25.00
1 C. boxes crackers . . . . . 15.00
1 C. neckties and shirts . . . . . 50.00
4 C. meat . . . . . 16.00
1 C. coffee . . . . . 20.00
1 C. seed . . . . . 15.00
1 C. candy . . . . . 12.50
1 C. wrapping paper, bags and twine . . . . . 12.00
2 Boxes oranges . . . . . 5.00
100 Lbs cheese . . . . . 14.00
1 C. condensed milk . . . . . 15.00
1 C. Quaker Oats . . . . . 8.00
1 C. Tobacco, Cigars and Cigs . . . . . 75.00
1 C. Soap . . . . . 1.50

Total . . . . . $347.50

"This is a list of 15 articles in class 5 that are being bought weekly and semi-weekly by the country merchants. Take, for instance, the case of Monticello, Fla. The rate that the merchant has had has been 50 cents per 100. The new classification raised it to $1.13. This would be an increase of 54 cents per 100, or $8.10 on the above-mentioned 15 articles. If he ordered every other week, the increase in his freight bill for the month would be $260.00. If a merchant has to buy 200 pounds of the above-mentioned articles at a time, it will be observed that it will take double the amount of the above bill, which is $680.00. Either the merchant must have this additional capital or the wholesale house must carry the additional amount for him.

"Few people have realized just what this meant to the south, but the railroad officials realizing what a hardship this apparently harmless rule was going to work on the small merchant and the patrons of the small merchant, withdrew the rule almost as promptly as they saw the effect it was going to have."

WAYWARD GIRL,

ASSERTS FATHER

Of Whitt's Kidnaped

Wm. McDermott Talks

"She Has Left the Path of Rectitude, and Brought Disgrace Upon Us; I Shall Do Nothing for Her," Says Her Father.

Chicago, March 26.—That William McDermott, a retired member of the Chicago fire department, is the father of Mrs. James H. Boyle, who, with her husband, is charged with the kidnaping of Willie Whitt, was confirmed by the grief-stricken father today.

McDermott's story of his daughter's life is that of a wayward girl.

Miss McDermott, according to her father, was one of the prettiest, one of the brightest children in the neighborhood when a child. She was given every possible advantage of education and careful moral training, but as she approached womanhood she fell into company of which the old fireman did not approve. Quarrels were frequent and about three years ago Anna eloped. Since that time her history has been a blank to her Chicago kinmen. Even the name of the man with whom she cast her fortunes was unknown to them. They carefully read from day to day the story of the kidnaping of Willie Whitt, of his return to his parents, and the arrest of the "Boyle" but they never dreamed of connecting "Mrs. Boyle" with winsome, headstrong Anna, who had deserted her home to follow unknown paths.

The aged father appeared heartbroken today at the unexpected developments of affairs and said that unless something unexpected occurred in the kidnaping case, which would tend to discredit the story of his daughter's connection with the affair, that he renounced the girl and would not spend any money in defending her.

She will get no aid from her father. "She has left the path of rectitude, and brought disgrace upon us. I shall do nothing for her," he said.

ALMOST A FIGHT OVER THE TARIFF

Fordney, of Mich., and Byrd, of Miss., Clash.

Washington, March 26.—The monotony of the tariff debate in the house was relieved for a time today by a clash between Messrs. Fordney, of Michigan, and Byrd, of Mississippi, which came near ending in blows. Mr. Fordney had been making an exhaustive discussion of the lumber schedule, when he was interrupted by the Mississippian, who insisted that the lumber manufacturers, of which Mr. Fordney was one, were in a trust. Mr. Fordney peremptorily denied the statement and said that Mr. Byrd "didn't know a damn thing about it."

The Mississippi member made a move toward Mr. Fordney and was in the act of removing his coat when some of his democratic colleagues took hold of him. Later, it developed that the incident grew out of a misunderstanding, and both men made mutual explanations and apologies.

Mr. Fordney made a notable speech on the subject of lumber, and pleaded for better protection on that product in the rough.

Mr. Fordney admitted, in response to a question by Mr. Bartlett, of Georgia, that whether the duty on lumber was increased, lowered or removed, southern lumber could not be carried into the territory north of the Ohio river in competition with Canadian lumber, because of prohibitive freight rates.

Mr. Slayden and Mr. Hardy, of Texas, declared that they had good reasons to believe that a lumber trust, or combination, does exist, to fix the price of lumber.

"I have been in the lumber business since I was a boy," said Mr. Fordney, "and I have never known of a lumber trust."

Diametrically opposed to him was Mr. Howland, of Ohio, who wanted the product placed on the free list.

Others who spoke were Messrs. Foul, of North Carolina, and Macon, of Arkansas, both of whom arraigned the Payne bill for not accomplishing what it was claimed it would do, while Mr. Humphrey, of Washington, pleaded for a tariff on shingles and lumber sufficiently high to enable the lumber and shingle manufacturers of his state to compete with those of British Columbia employing cheap Oriental labor.

At 6:10 p. m. the house adjourned.

GREAT DEBATE ON PROHIBITION

In wet states, and claimed that prohibition had been a failure wherever tried, because it was impossible to correct the ills and weaknesses of man by laws. In the south, the theory had failed; liquor was to be had not only by whites, but by blacks, and that a marked increase in the drug habit was noticeable. Nation-wide prohibition, he said, would mean a loss of $215,000,000 of revenue a year to the government; would seriously affect the farmer and laborer of the country, because the brewers and maltsters and distillers consumed $104,000,000 of grain a year. It would, he said, paralyze business, cripple railroads, be felt in every walk of life, and deprive people of personal liberty, "all for no purpose except the fanaticism of the prohibitionists."

"PLACE AT PIE COUNTER IS DESIRED BY US ALL"

—Representative Pou

Washington, March 26.—"A place at the pie counter is desired by us all," said Representative Pou, of North Carolina, in discussing the tariff bill in the house today. "But I have often thought that our republican friends get there quicker, stay longer, and are harder to force away than any class of people on earth. Therefore, rather than lose its place in the national restaurant that party promised to revise your Dingley tariff, and when you agreed to revise it, you meant to revise it downward, in a manner fair and just to all sections, and the people so understood it." But he asserted that the republican party had not done so.

Mr. Pou argued that shoes should be placed on the free list if hides are admitted free of duty. He criticized the wool schedule, declaring that the very necessities of everyday living have been doubled by the imposition of the duties provided therein. He also said that the duties on women's and children's gloves have been increased, with the result that every woman and child in America will suffer.

Mr. Pou criticized the republicans for not granting the peanut, mica and long staple cotton interests of the south the increased duties that they requested, and claimed that the only reason for refusing was the fact that the people in the sections of the south where they are produced did not vote the republican ticket.

The reduction in the lumber schedule was also attacked by Mr. Pou, who declared it was another evidence of the favoritism shown in the framing of the bill. He said that every American citizen who must pay the advance in the price of tea, which, he claimed, would result from the duty placed on this beverage, would hold the majority of the house responsible.

ALL WARRING FACTIONS AT PRESIDENT'S DINNER

Washington, March 26.—President Taft brought representatives of all the warring factions in the lower house of congress together tonight at the first formal dinner he and Mrs. Taft have given at the white house.

The personnel of the guest list was something of a tribute to the president's capabilities as a diplomat, and his ambitions as a peace-maker. Representative Champ Clark, democratic leader of the house; Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, the democrat who broke away from his party in the notable fight on the house rules; Representative A. P. Gardner, of Massachusetts, insurgent leader among the republicans in the house, and Representatives Payne, of New York, and Dabell, of Pennsylvania, stalwart members of the so-called Cannon "machine," were among the noted figures about the table set in the state dining room.

The dinner was the largest the president and Mrs. Taft have yet given. A partial list is: The president and Mrs. Taft; the vice president and Mrs. Sherman, the secretary of state and Mrs. Knox; the secretary of war and Mrs. Dickinson; Senator and Mrs. Culberson; Senator and Mrs. Overman, and Representative and Mrs. Longworth.

SPRY AT 64 Keeps Well and Active on Postum.

Postum does one good because it is made of clean, hard wheat and contains no drug or other harmful substance.

"My husband always had his coffee twice a day—though he could not do without it," writes a N. Y. woman. "About twelve years ago he began to have bad spells."

"His head felt queer, was dizzy and sick at his stomach. The doctor would come, and prescribe for silliness, but medicines gave no permanent relief. "In a short time the same old spells would return. This went on for years, until we dreaded these spells and feared he would become an invalid."

"A friend to whom we told this experience said it was coffee. He had been the same way and stopped drinking coffee and got well by change to well-made Postum."

"He told us to be sure to make it right, according to directions on pkg. Now we like Postum as well as coffee, and I can't remember when my husband has had a sick day."

"Those bad spells are a thing of the past. He is 64, works every day and is as spry as a boy. We have been using Postum a year and a half and are glad to have a delicious drink which does not injure us as coffee did."

JOHN T. MOORE OUT FOR MAYOR

Promises Clean Administration for Macon.

Formal Announcement of His Candidacy Made Yesterday. Friends Held Meeting Thursday Night.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., March 26.—(Special.)—"I will give Macon a clean administration and whatever I do as an official, if I am elected mayor, will be for the best interests of the people of the entire community, accordingly as I may honestly and fairly judge."

The foregoing is the brief, but formal, announcement of Hon. John T. Moore, which was promised last Sunday when it was first announced that he would formally become a candidate for mayor of Macon. He is now actively in the race and is making plans. Much will be done within the next few days to get the work that is to be done in his behalf started off and assigned to the different friends.

Ex-Mayor Bridges Smith was in receipt of friends last night that he decided on asking Mr. Moore to make his announcement. A committee appeared at Mr. Moore's home and secured his consent.

Jesse B. Hart, who has for years been connected with the city's interests in one way or another, has been much talked in recent days as a probable candidate, and those who would divide the strength of the opposition have already urged him to enter the race. He will not be in the running, however, with conditions existing as they do at present.

It is apparent now that Judge Miller's friends are intending to use his name as a candidate to succeed himself. In this case it will be Moore against Miller, as it was two years ago. Whether Judge Miller will consent to get into the running again, has not been made public. It is very nearly certain that the race will be run again between Judge Miller and John T. Moore.

THREE-CENT RATE BACK IN FORCE

Change in Missouri Will Be Made April 10.

Eighteen Railroads Announce That They Will at Once Start Action in the Adjoining States Testing the Validity of the Two-Cent Rate.

St. Louis, March 26.—The 3-cent local ticket rate and the 2,000-mile interchangeable book will be put in effect April 10, according to an official statement issued by the eighteen railroads in Missouri tonight. The statement was issued after the return of the railroad representatives from Jefferson City, where conferences on the passenger rate question were held with Governor Hadley, Attorney General Major and members of the railroad committee of the legislature.

The statement also announces that the action to test the validity of the 2-cent laws in adjoining states will be brought at once. After stating that the most cordial good feeling existed during the conference at Jefferson City, the statement reads:

Statement of Railroads. "As the matter now stands as between the railroad proposition and that of the executive and legislative departments, there is a difference which might be classified as detail."

"In other words, the establishment of the 3-cent basis for through and interstate rates will not be objected to, and a 2,000-mile interchangeable mileage book upon a basis of 2 cents per mile is acceptable to both sides. The state favors a 500-mile book, good upon an individual road and for bearer at 2 1/4 cents per mile."

"The railroads offer in lieu of this a 500-mile book, good over all of the railroads in the state and for bearer, at 2 1/2 cents per mile, and upon an individual railroad a 500-mile book, good for owner only, for 2 1/4 cents per mile. All mileage books in both cases to be good for one year."

"The objection by the railroads to the 2 1/4-cent individual railroad bearer mileage book is that the road where more than one-half cent difference is made between the ordinary local ticket rate and the bearer mileage rate, it will be used by scalpers, and also to reduce interstate rates."

"The mileage books which the railroads offer would be flat 2 1/2 cents; the difference would not represent a profit to both scalpers and purchasers; therefore this ticket would not be scalped."

In reference to the traveler of small means and for short distances, the statement reads:

"The opinion of every passenger traffic official is that the practical effect of the 2 1/2-cent state-wide mileage book would be to extend the benefit of that rate to every traveler. They would be perfectly negotiable, and it would be the simplest matter for individuals to secure the use of a portion of a book held by another."

"At the present time no further conference is contemplated."

"Actions to test the validity of the 2-cent laws in adjoining states will be begun," the statement concludes.

Mrs. Mattie Dennis. Mrs. Mattie Dennis, of Montgomery, Ala., died at a local private sanitarium yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The body was removed to Poole's undertaking parlor, pending the arrival of J. F. Dennis, of Birmingham, a brother of the deceased.

Mrs. R. C. Fuller. The funeral of Mrs. R. C. Fuller, formerly of this city, who died in Chicago Wednesday night, will take place at the Central Congregational church this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will take place at Oakland. Arthur L. Fuller, third son of the deceased, accompanied the body from Chicago.

Where Health Is Concerned Why Take Any Chances?

The great weight of scientific opinion throughout the world is hostile to the use of all artificial preservatives in food products, as being in themselves harmful and as making possible the employment of unwholesome materials and unsanitary practices.

Benzoate of Soda is a tasteless, odorless product of coal tar, medicinally used for many diseases. It is a drug, not a food.

A few scientists have announced—after brief experimentation upon healthy young men—that a limited quantity of Benzoate of Soda, administered during the experimental period, caused the subjects of the experiment no apparent injury. This but adds one more opinion on this subject.

There is no evidence anywhere that ordinary people, elderly persons, growing children and those who may have even slight impairment of health, may take indefinite quantities of this drug, or that any one may take it for an indefinite period without danger.

No manufacturer who uses good, sound, fresh raw material, maintains sanitary premises and requires neatness in his work-people, needs to use Benzoate of Soda or any other artificial preservative.

Manufacturers using Benzoate of Soda state its presence upon the labels of their products, because the Law compels them to do so—but the statements are always hidden in small type as obscurely placed as possible—a fact which, in itself, is a reflection upon the use of the substance.

The use of any drug with which to embalm the food supply of the country is unnatural, unnecessary and unjustifiable.

Heinz "57 Varieties"—like the products of many other reputable and high class establishments—are prepared without Benzoate of Soda or any other artificial preservative, and may be purchased anywhere with absolute confidence in their purity, goodness and keeping quality.

The public may choose for itself what kind of foods it will eat. If you wish to avoid prepared foods that have been drugged, read all there is printed on every food label.

FOR COUNTY UNION COMMITTEE PLEADS

Declare Three-Fourths of DeKalb Favor the Movement.

After having been suppressed, it is alleged, for some time by the DeKalb county grand jury, now in session, the report of the committee appointed by the September grand jury to take steps looking to the annexation of DeKalb by Fulton county, has been made public. In this report, the committee not only expresses itself as being strongly in favor of the proposed annexation, but gives the opinion that fully three-fourths and possibly nine-tenths of the residents of DeKalb favor the plan.

The committee reports that a thorough investigation of the matter has been made and the following facts ascertained:

The law provides that such an annexation of one county by an adjoining county may be made on the two-thirds vote of the county to be annexed. In the election at which this vote is cast, only residents of the county which it is proposed to dissolve may participate, residents of the other county affected being barred. The two-thirds vote is reckoned from the number of votes cast in the election and not from the number of qualified voters of the county.

No law providing for the holding of such an election to determine whether or not a county is to be merged is to be found in the statute books. The committee recommends that a bill providing for the holding of such an election be introduced by DeKalb's representatives at the next session of the legislature.

The members of the committee caused to be circulated among the qualified voters of DeKalb county petitions asking that the county's representatives prepare and have passed by the legislature such bills as are necessary for such an election.

It is stated that the petitions, which were circulated in a casual manner through only a portion of the county, however, more than 1,700 qualified voters were secured.

Residents of East Atlanta and Edgewood were not allowed to sign these petitions, as it was believed that these towns would have been taken into Fulton county before the question of annexation could be settled.

The committee offers as a reason for their failure to make a systematic canvass of the county with the petitions, the fact that this would require considerable time and cannot be done without adequate remuneration to the parties doing the work. A fund for this purpose is now being raised.

As a result of the canvass already made and the observation of members of the committee, it is the belief of that

Germless, Iceless

Icewater, 2c a Day

How to Supply Your Home, Office, Store, or Factory, All Day Long, With Purest Ice for Few Cents a Day.

Drinking water should never touch ice. Germs in ice contaminate the water it contains. In many hotels and other fever deaths are directly caused by drinking ice water infected by these germs. It will cost you less to have germless, iceless water all day long, every day, in your home, office, store or factory, than to have the "germy" fever-contaminated water drawn from the ordinary water-mixed-with-ice cooler.

In the ordinary water cooler the ice comes in direct contact with the "germy" ice. The ice melts very fast, and before the end of the day the ice is usually melted, the water in the "cooler" has turned warm and unfit to drink, the ice has been wasted, and more ice is necessary. This makes the ordinary cooler expensive to keep up.

The "Useful" Water Cooler on the other hand, is a marvel in making germless, iceless water. It requires but a third or a quarter the amount of ice used in the average cooler. The water never comes in contact with the ice, and the water is made ice cold in a few seconds. Only the water used is cooled. About five cents worth of ice a day will supply ice water all day long for a large office force. In the home, this cooler can also be used as a refrigerator; the ice does not melt as fast as in the average ice box. It is superior and cheaper to keep up than any other water cooler made.

"Useful" Water Coolers are sold in many different patterns and sizes, for home, office, store, and factory. They are sold at all first-class hardware dealers. Our dealer does not happen to have the "Useful" Water Coolers in stock, send us his name and we will send you our illustrated booklet, "Useful" Water Coolers.

To Dealers: There is an enormous field for "Useful" Water Coolers in home, office, stores and factories. It is the most economical, useful and satisfactory. Our selling plan to the dealer makes it the most profitable for the dealer to handle. Send for the details of our selling plan. Address Consumers' Cooler Company, 418 and Butler Sts., Chicago, Ill.

MINOR GOT NEAR BEER AND DEALER WAS FINED

Peek Also Fined $50 on Charge of Drunkenness—Case Appealed as Usual.

A fine of $100 on a charge of having sold a minor near beer, and a fine of $50 on a charge of having been drunk and disorderly on last Sunday night, was the sentence passed on James Peek, 74 years of age, near beer dealer at 228 Houston street, yesterday afternoon in the police court. Peek decided, through his attorney, John Boykin, to appeal both cases, and gave bond in the sum of $300.

The arrest of Peek, on the charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, occurred at his near beer saloon. The case was made by Call Officers Fain and Barfield. They had received phone calls to the effect that Peek was in his place shooting his pistol and yelling at a great rate. They went to the place, and found Peek with his pistol. He refused to admit them, and they broke through the back door. The officers thought Peek tried to shoot them.

Peek made a statement, in which he said he had been troubled with persons thought by him to have been burglars, and that he called for help, and he had frightened them away. He said he had gone to bed in the rear, which he says is also his place of residence. Attorney Boykin moved to dismiss the case on the ground that Peek was appealing for help, and if drunk, was not on the public highway. The recorder overruled the motion, and the second case was begun.

A negro boy, 19 years of age, swore that he had bought near beer from Peek's bartender on several occasions. Peek stated that he knew of no such transaction. The question arose as to whether Peek was responsible for such an act on the part of his employee. Judge Broyles thought Peek was responsible, and levied the fine. Peek's attorney thought the bartender was personally responsible, and this led to a certiorari of the case.

body that fully three-fourths of the qualified voters of the county favor the annexation.

As to the committee itself, it most heartily indorses the annexation movement. Believing that the best interests of both counties will be served by the consolidation. Conditions demand the dissolution and merger, according to the terms of the act. The territory should be under one county government. Finding that the question is one which DeKalb county must settle alone, the committee has not recommended by Fulton county officials as recommended by the grand jury. However, the committee expresses a desire for the cooperation of not only the Fulton county officials, but residents as well.

FAMINE IN HENS IS NOW THREATENED

Although there is a calm in the commission of serious burglaries just now, petty thefts have continued to pester the police department. While Mr. and Mrs. Elsas were in their residence they heard a great clatter on the front steps, and upon going out found that three of the four giant fern jars which graced the center, north and south ends of the porch had been pushed off the porch and smashed. ## IN FOLDS OF HER SHROUD DEATH SECRET LIES HID

Washington, March 26.—In the folds of her shroud, the material evidence of the death secret of Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, Jr., is sealed with her body tonight on its final journey to the grave. The funeral party left the Lorillard residence at 5 o'clock this afternoon for New York. At the old home of the Lorillards at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, the casket will be interred tomorrow.

The departure from the city furnished another of the dramatic events which have characterized the death by suicide of this prominent woman. At the very hour, when the first social circles of the capital, in which Mrs. Lorillard had been accorded such a prominent part, were crowding the aristocratic Massachusetts avenue, the body of the deceased was driven rapidly down that thoroughfare toward the station. The husband, one of the famous Lorillards of the tobacco business, and prominent clubman and sportsman, and his son Pierre, by their own preference, were the only mourners.

The funeral ceremonies had been conducted at 12:30 o'clock. A few of Mrs. Lorillard's most intimate friends, principally those who gathered with her the night of her death at the dinner given by Mrs. Richard Townsend, were present. Rev. Roland Cotton-Smith, of St. John's Episcopal church, officiated at the services, which occupied only half an hour.

Notes Buried With Woman. Shortly afterwards the most dramatic event of the day occurred, when Dr. J. Ramsey Nevitt, the coroner, laid away in the folds of the shroud two notes and the mysterious trinkets found on Mrs. Lorillard's body after her death. Contrary to the general understanding, Mrs. Lorillard wrote up neither of the notes after she returned from the Townsend dinner. It is now believed that the only words she wrote on the morning of her death were on an envelope that contained the notes on the trinkets. They were:

"Bury this with my body unopened." The ink with which these words were written had been freshly smeared over the face of the envelope. Its freshness was in marked contrast with the ink of the two notes.

Another fact that has been brought out is that one of the notes was addressed to Mrs. Lorillard, and was in the handwriting of another person. The second note had been written by Mrs. Lorillard evidently many days before her death. The note to Mrs. Lorillard is said to have been addressed to her in an informal way.

The trinkets consisted of a chain to which were attached some pendants of little intrinsic value, reminding those who have beheld them of the high school days of girls.

The envelope in which the notes and trinkets were placed was not found until hours after the death, when the undertaker was preparing the body for burial.

Burglar Caught.

Macon, Ga., March 26.—(Special.)—F. D. Parker, a white man, was lodged in police barracks by Patrol Officer Watson tonight, charged with having burglarized rooms in the Zettler house several weeks ago. The man is said to have entered the rooms of several guests rifled their pockets and when getting away, was caught, but drew a revolver and held it on the awe-stricken boarder till he made his escape. Parker would have nothing to say as he was locked up.

WHERE REPRESENTATIVES SHOULD LEAD—NOT FOLLOW!

The people, and particularly here in the south, are looking to their representatives in congress for enlightenment on the tariff.

They want to know the intent, the purport and effect of the various schedules proposed, particularly upon those articles about which they are most intimately concerned.

THEY WANT EXPRESSION AND NOT SILENCE!

Ordinarily upon public questions representatives and senators are quick to express themselves, but with regard to the tariff, the most important subject of legislation with which congress has to deal, they are peculiarly reticent.

Constituencies are looking to the men they elect to represent them, and chief among the methods of representation is expression of views and convictions.

They have grown tired of the political game of waiting for the crystalization of public sentiment; THEY WANT LEADERS WITH OPINIONS, AND WHO ARE NOT AFRAID TO EXPRESS THEM.

They have vastly more admiration for the man with convictions who will come out with them, even though he may tread on some preconceived notions, than for the procrastinator who is hunting a soft spot.

The tariff affects the pocketbook of the individual all the way from the breakfast table to the bed. He is vitally interested in it and he wants to know about it, not secondhand, but direct from the representative in whose selection he participated.

In the house of representatives this measure is in its formative state. It is there the first tariff battle is to be fought. It is there that proposed tariff legislation must be given its first formative shape; that its purport and effect must be projected on the screen of public vision.

Therefore the time for action is NOW!

The Payne tariff bill is to be the basis of coming legislation. Wherein is it good, wherein bad?

The people are asking this, not of somebody a thousand miles away, whom they do not know and about whom they care little, but of their own representatives and senators.

These members of congress owe it to their constituencies to put themselves on record NOW, WHILE IT COUNTS FOR SOMETHING.

Georgia is deeply interested in the pending tariff measure from many standpoints.

The question has been raised as to the policy the democratic representatives should pursue—whether it is best to stand against all forms of protection, even though protection has been declared to be the national policy, or whether or not—since there is to be protection—SOUTHERN INDUSTRIES SHOULD BE GIVEN THE SAME SHARE AS THOSE OF OTHER SECTIONS.

In the matter of lumber, for instance, some of the southern delegations are outspoken in favor of the policy of protection, others want the doors thrown wide open and others are still in the cellar bomb-proof.

And so it is with other industries involved in the bill.

But the time has come when the people want to hear from their representatives. They would rather have them SPEAK OUT, even on the wrong side, than not to speak at all, for their opinion expressed now means something, while the measure is in process of formation. Even if their attitude should vary from that of a majority of their constituents, the public is more ready now than ever to give credit for independence of thought and action, whenever prompted by sincerity.

So come out into the sunlight, brethren, and take the public into your confidence. The people want LEADERS, and not FOLLOWERS, as their representatives—both in the house and senate.

PERMANENT FOUNDATION FOR CITY AND STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

A permanent foundation for both street and structural improvement is the ultimate significance of the policy adopted recently by the finance committee of council, and which will, no doubt, be approved by council.

The committee agreed to appropriate money making possible the raising of the grade of several of the side streets contiguous to Forsyth street, the grade of which, in turn, has been undergoing elevation for the last several weeks.

At the same time the committee agreed to appropriate sufficient funds to secure the condemnation to the city of a small triangular strip of land at the southeast corner of Edgewood avenue and Pryor street. The lotting off of this corner means that Exchange place will be widened approximately ten feet down to Ivy street, without cost to the city for the land. By the same arrangement the city is ceded the three-cornered piece of land just east of Pryor street, bounded on one side by Exchange place and on the other by Edgewood avenue. The deal also secures the cession to the city of a triangular piece of land at the corner of Ivy and Edgewood.

The result-at-large in this section of the city is that the contour of Edgewood avenue from Pryor street eastward will be exact and unbroken, a condition highly desirable on all of the city's streets and intensified in business districts or other districts as yet unimproved.

The raising of the grade on Forsyth street and the thoroughfares contiguous thereto insures that building operations on a large and diversified scale will be straightway initiated. Already they are under way. The action of the city relieves property-holders and investors of all uncertainty and apprehension as to the ultimate status of the street on which their property abuts, and clears away the last obstacle to symmetrical and systematic improvements of a lasting and pretentious nature.

NO THOROUGHFARE!

Is there a malignant and ghastly germ that propagates suicide? Or is the sinister suggestion of example sufficient to explain the fact that these pitiable events almost invariably come in groups?

Herein is an endless field for service open to that consecrated metaphysician whose keenness of mental clairvoyance is only equalled by his commiseration for human misery and his anxiety to reestablish its more fatal climax.

The crudest student examines these tragedies as they rapidly sadden the news of the day, and it comes to him that ill-health is the motive power in the vast majority of cases.

We cannot, of course, explain all instances from this angle. Sometimes disgrace or ruin or exposure set heavy on men and women; they are confronted by a wall that seems black and impenetrable, and there is the phial of poison or the violent death self-inflicted.

Sometimes they are hedged about with crises which to the morbid mind look impassable, while at every turn the eye meets gloomy vistas headed by the merciless and cynical sign, "No Thoroughfare!"

But in instances innumerable, one is forced to believe that intervention, seasoned with understanding and sympathy, would in most cases find a thoroughfare along which lies the beckoning sanity of the sunlight and the fragrance of those flowers that spring up only in minds that have not lost the blessing of poise or the double blessing of enduring bravely when all that remains is to endure.

Who knows? Self-destruction is the most ancient and horrifying tragedy in history. Always it will be with us, while human nature sins or is sinned against. But is not Christianity, in the meridian of its influence, able to mitigate the scourge of this evil beast whose somber shadow lies across the doorway of outdone humanity?

Fish too religious to bite on Sun-

to get in line with the story-telling brigade.

I can hear the ringing of the church
bells way out here on the river bank,

flection: Perhaps old Ananias was a fisherman.

A big alligator swallowed one of our finest fishermen one day last week. Some of these alligators can stand almost anything.

All over hill an' glen;
It blew the steeples out

While the thunder

Folks out o' life at

When Winter lingers—slings his sleet, and howls with all his storm,
A feller flings his dancin' feet to keep a feller warm.

Is Trouble knockin' at the door from Tribulation town?
A feller dances all the more to keep the trouble down!

But even though Winter carries long an' "storms of sorrow fall,"
When my ol' fiddle sings a song, it's "Halleluia, all!"

Goodby, Mister March.

I. Goodby, Mister March—Goodby! You're goin' mighty fast,

But April soon will smile away

II. Goodby, Mister March—Goodby! Sweet summer's on the way, There'll be no echo of a sigh in rosy depths of May,
And Heaven will paint the world anew
And skies will bend in living blue!

Letters From the People

Fraternity Contention at Emory.

Editor Constitution: During the past few days, serious difficulties have obtained here in Emory college and factional lines have become very distinct between the nons and frats. The trouble
first originated in the sophomore class,
having been provoked by political differences in the sophomore class, baseball team. As is usually the case, each party desired a majority on the team,
and took measures thereto. The nons were successful in getting a majority on the committee, whose duty it was to select the team. The frats, seeing that their plans were thwarted, and that they would probably fail to get the captaincy of the team, which is determined by a majority of the players, resorted to kicking. The nons were equally contentious, so that the bone of contention resolved itself finally into a question as to who would be captain of the team. No compromise could be agreed upon and members of the other classes, naturally interested, were led to take issue with their respective party in the affair, thus causing the student body to be split into two distinct factions, each at variance with the other.

For some time the interest on both sides was characterized by uncompromising decision, until a committee from the upper classes was given the power to make the selection, which will be done in a few days. The sophomores can get out a strong team, and their victory over the freshmen at the opening of the season on Monday last indicates a possibility of their winning the pennant this year if they will only stand together.

Expresses His Appreciation.

Editor Constitution: I want to thank you most sincerely for the most excellent and timely editorial which have appeared in your paper during the past few days, and particularly do I desire to commend the two main editorials in Sunday's issue, "Atlanta's Real Yellow Peril" and "The Just-Determined-to-Be-Miserables."

LELAND MOORE.
Oxford, Ga., March 24, 1939.

Expresses His Appreciation.

You are maintaining for your paper
a very high standard of efficiency as an educational medium and a molding influence in civic righteousness and that culture which makes for an enduring southland, genuinely interested in her progress, I wish to express my sense of appreciation for your work in this direction.

(REV.) E. DEAN ELLENWOOD.

OF THE FREIGHT STATION
SOUTHERN OFFICIAL TALKS

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington March 26.—(Special.)—Officials at Southern railway headquarters

today confirmed the announcement made in Atlanta by J. S. B. Thompson, assistant to the president, to the effect that the construction of the large and costly freight station, to be erected between Mitchell and Peters street and fronting on Madison avenue, would be begun at the earliest possible moment.
Fairfax Harrison, vice president of the Southern, said the plans for the freight depot were ready, having been completed two years ago. Asked as to the specific date the work would commence, he said he could not tell definitely. He said the construction of this depot was one of the most important projects
the Southern had in contemplation at the time of the panic, eighteen months ago, and would be begun and the work carried to completion in the near future.

"Is the Southern still feeling the effect of the panic?" he was asked.

"We are resuming" our construction work by degrees," was his reply.

Among the most important projects referred to by Mr. Harrison as having been resumed was the double-tracking of the Southern main line between Chat-tahooga and Ooltewah Junction. Over this 15 miles of road every freight and passenger train going to Atlanta and from Chattanooga and Memphis, and every train going to and from Knoxville to Chattanooga and Memphis must pass. For this reason the line has become badly congested with the growth of traffic, and the double track is imperatively needed. Mr. Harrison said a lot of money had already been spent on this improvement, and that the eight months or a year would be required to complete it. He said the work of double-tracking the main line of the Southern practically completed, and that the new line would be in actual operation in another month.

PINCHOT TO MAKE A PUBLIC ADDRESS

Educators May Visit Miss Berry's School at Rome.

By Irma Dooley.
The coming of Gifford Pinchot to speak at the conference for education in the south, which holds here April 14, 15 and 16, will be an event of far-reaching interest, and an effort will be made to have him make a special address beside the one which will be a brilliant feature of the educational conference.

Georgia's conservation committee will probably be officially notified of his coming by the governor, and under their auspices may be arranged an occasion when Georgians may hear this distinguished and thoughtful man, called the father of the forestry preservation movement.

The tendency of the movement to coordinate education with every phase of the conserving and development of the country's natural resources, makes the address of Mr. Pinchot of twofold interest and significance.

He theme will be: "How the National Government May Cooperate with the States in Bettering Rural Conditions," and he will speak the evening of April 15.

Miss Berry's Education.
An interesting incident to the conference is the excursion being arranged for the members of the conference to visit the Berry Industrial School for Mountain Boys near Rome. The excursion is being arranged by that noble young woman, Miss Martha Berry, of Rome, who founded the school and maintained it in its early days. Through her effort the school has enlarged in scope, and now is a splendid illustration of the type of school which best fits the boy of the rural district for the development of the resources around him.

Agricultural and industrial, primarily, the curriculum carries also an academic side, and educational specialists have recognized the school to be a model of its kind.

When the time came in the life and progress of the school when Miss Berry's personal income was insufficient for its maintenance; when the mountain boy walked for miles, and, foot-sore and weary, knocked on the door, and found there was no room for him then it was that Miss Berry went forth to ask the world to cooperate with her in her work—to help the mountain boy help himself.

The school has grown, and each day more fully meets the demand of the rural boy in its mode of training, but it does not meet the demand of the number of boys who wish to enter.

Miss Berry's excursion will be arranged for a time that will in no way conflict with the sessions making up the official program of the conference, and will afford a number of people interested in rural education the opportunity to see an ideal institution for the right training of the rural boy.

"PURI-TAN-ATED" COFFEE

Has Delicious Flavor and Is Pure and Healthful.
All ordinary coffee contains an excessive amount of vegetable matter. It is the form of cellulose tissue or chaff. This chaff contains over 10 per cent of a poisonous, extremely bitter-tasting form of tannic acid. When coffee tastes bitter, it is a sign there is poison in it and it will do you harm. It will keep you awake, make you nervous, cause indigestion and make you bilious.

"Puri-tan-ated" Coffee is real coffee. Hence it is pure and it is wholesome. Clark, Coggin & Johnson Co., Coffee Importers and Roasters, of Boston, Mass., proprietors of "Puri-tan-ated" Coffee, buy the very best coffee that can be bought and extract from it every drop of the cellulose tissue. You can boil it as much as you like and there is no bitter taste, which proves it is pure. You can use one-fifth less than you would of other brands and have delicious, healthful coffee that has none of the bad effects. Ask your grocer about it. If you do not find that it is as represented, take it back and your money will be refunded by your grocer.

CAN'T COLLECT PAVING BONDS

City Must Sue in the Courts.

City Attorney States That Several Suits Are Now Pending. Contractors and Bondsmen Ignore All Notices of Needed Repairs on Streets.

According to the statement of the city attorney, there has never been collected a bond given for street paving without a lawsuit. Only one such bond has ever been collected, and there is now pending in the state court suits for the collection of bonds for nearly every asphalt-paved street in the city.

Whenever a street has been paved with asphalt the contractors have been required to give a bond to insure the paving for ten years. These bonds have all been regular and were regarded as gilt-edge security. Yet when the street paving required repairs before the ten years expired, the contractors refused to do the repairing. The city had to do the work and then depend upon collecting the cost of the bondsmen. All notices, according to the city attorney, were ignored by the contractors and by the bondsmen.

Only One Bond Collected.
In only one case during the past fifteen years has the city been able to collect from the sureties the cost of the repairs and this was for the wood-block paving on North avenue. In this case the city had to sue, and when the case was reached the bond company paid the amount of the suit, which was about $2,000.

The city attorney states that there are now pending in the courts suits for work on nearly every asphalt-paved street in the city. It seems that while the contractors give the necessary bonds and the security seems to be perfectly good, the only way that the city can collect is by doing the necessary work and suing the contractors and bondsmen.

To show that these bonds were given and are apparently perfectly good, the following instances are recited:

Some of the Bonds Given.
For the asphalt paving on Mitchell street, the Asphalt Paving Company of Georgia gave a ten-year bond to the amount of $600 on December 14, 1904, and the security was The Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland.

For the paving on Peters and Peachtree streets the Southern Paving and Construction Company gave a ten-year bond on March 31, 1903, for $21,000, which was signed by the National Surety Company of New York.

For the paving on a portion of Pryor street, Hunter street and Whitehall street, the Southern Paving and Construction Company gave a ten-year bond on May 17, 1902, for $6,225, the National Surety Company signing the bond.

For a portion of the paving on Peters street, the Southern Paving and Construction Company gave a ten-year bond on May 17, 1902, for $6,225, the National Surety Company signing the bond. These are some of the outstanding street paving bonds upon which the city finds it unable to make any collection. There is believed to be something wrong either in the contract or the securing of bonds which puts the city to the expense and trouble of making collections only through the courts, and which may be taken up whenever another contract of the kind is made.

You know he settles claiming for a certain railroad and I went over today to offer to pay the road a large sum for killing my mother-in-law. When I saw my friend, the claim agent, I thought the whole railroad had run over him, but after a whispered conversation found that he had been only joining the Elks. When I left he was singing this parody of Nat Willis' famous song: "They're the best people on earth. B. U. O. E. They are the fellows who broke my left arm. Pushed sixteen slats in but did me no harm. Kind brothers so true, they made such a wreck of me. When I yelled loud in pain, they refused this refrain, 'We're the B. P. O. E.'"

BUSY TIME AHEAD OF GOVERNOR-ELECT

Has Already Visited Over
Eighty Counties.

Mr. Brown Announces He Has Engagement for Every Day
Between Now and Inauguration—Visited Columbus Mills

Columbus, Ga., March 26.—(Special.)—Hon. Joseph M. Brown, governor-elect of Georgia, who spent Wednesday in Columbus, will make rather an extensive trip through southern Georgia before returning to his home at Marietta. He left this city for Dawson, and from there goes to Fort Gaines, Leeburg and many other points in the southern section of the state.

When Mr. Brown was in Columbus, he said that he had visited already over eighty Georgia counties, and had everywhere been received in a very cordial manner. He is evidently enjoying his trip, and the hearty reception which he is being accorded, and impressed his Columbus friends as being in excellent health and in the highest of spirits.

The next governor of Georgia will be a very busy man from now until the time of his inauguration. He remarked, while in Columbus, that he had an engagement for every day from the present time up to a date in May. No feature of Mr. Brown's visit created deeper impression than his visit to the cotton factories, where he entered and took off his hat to the operatives. As he walked through the aisles of the big mills, he shook hands with the operatives, speaking to them pleasantly, and his visit created a mild sensation among the millfolk, as it was the first time that a governor or governor-elect had ever visited them. In some of the Georgia counties that Mr. Brown has visited, a governor or governor-elect had never set foot before.

Sawmill Men Meet.

Tifton, Ga., March 26.—(Special.)—The proposed reduction by half of the duty on imported lumber was the absorbing topic for discussion at the meeting of the Georgia-Florida Saw Mill Association, held in Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday, meeting at 10 o'clock.

President Tift, of Tifton, presided. More interest was shown in the proposed tariff reduction than at any previous meeting of the association. While the reduction has been incorporated in the bill as drawn, the lumbermen do not propose to give up until there is no opportunity to fight further.

Prices and trade conditions were also discussed at length. Prevailing prices are somewhat lower than they were thirty days ago, although a hopeful sign was the increase in the amount of business offered. Mills have more cutting on hand than at this time last month, but prices offered are too low to afford a margin of profit.

WHITE CONVICTS TO GO ON ROADS

Commission Will Dispose of Them Temporarily.

Members Say They Will Proceed to Get a Farm as Early as Possible—Optional With Them—Gov. Smith's View of the Situation.

The white convicts of the state will have to be placed temporarily upon the public roads.

There appears to be no escape from this disposition of them following Governor Smith's refusal to approve the purchase of the Wimberly place in Twiggs county as a state prison farm. It is not that the prison commission will refuse to make further effort to find a farm which conforms to its ideas as to what the law contemplates, but that, as Chairman J. S. Turner stated yesterday, the commission does not at present know of any other available farm which, in its opinion, would fill the bill.

The commission, Chairman Turner stated, will proceed with its investigations with a view to finding and buying a farm at the earliest possible date, but to do this in time to take care of the white convicts on April 1, or at any time within the next month or more, he states, would be manifestly impossible.

It is practically settled, therefore, that the 300 white convicts of the state will have to go temporarily on the public roads.

Will Go to Larger Counties.
The commission will not, however, distribute them pro rata among the counties of the state. It is its purpose to dispose of them "overs" as the new law contemplated "overs" should be disposed of, should there be any.

The white convicts will be sent chiefly to the larger counties of the state, such as Fulton, Richmond, Bibb and others if they are prepared to take them and work them separate and apart from the negro convicts.

It is said that the commission would take all of them if the commission is satisfied with the arrangement, but it is likely they will be divided among three or four of the larger counties.

This policy was pursued because of the fact that the arrangement will be only temporary and it is the commission's purpose to get a farm and put them on it as soon as it can do so.

Still an Open Question.
The question of the selection of a prison farm is still an open question. Chairman Turner said, and Commissioners Evans and Williams assented, "and we shall proceed to get one just as quickly as we can."

It is, however, known of any other farm at this time which conforms to our ideas of all that the law requires and contemplates. It is our purpose to continue the investigation and just as soon as we can find a place which we regard satisfactory for the purposes of the state, we shall recommend it to the governor.

But all of the members of the commission are agreed that it will not be possible now to do anything in time to avoid making disposition of the white convicts on the roads on April 1, until such time as a farm can be secured.

As to the Duty Involved.
The members of the commission take issue with the point raised by the governor in the selection of the law, that an immediate selection shall be made. They furthermore state that the proposal to put the white convicts on the roads originated with the commission, and that it came to the conclusion that this would be the proper disposition to make of them, they set about looking for a farm just as soon as the governor informed them that there was money enough on hand with which to buy a farm.

But the purchase of a farm, they hold, is optional with them, under the law; they may buy or not, as they see fit. Following is the section of the new convict act bearing upon this point, and to which reference is made: Section 17. Be it further enacted, That in case the governor shall find it expedient to carry into effect the terms of this act the prison commission, with the approval of the governor, is hereby authorized to purchase, or lease, for a period of five years, with the option to purchase at any time, one or more tracts of land, located at some convenient point, for the purpose of working the convicts thereon; but before said tract or tracts of land are purchased or leased, advertisements asking for proposals shall be published in four of the daily papers of this state, and the abstract of titles of said land approved by the attorney general.

While the attorney general has not been called upon to construe this feature of the law, according to the commission's view, the purchase of a farm or farms is entirely within their discretion, the governor having no authority outside of approval or disapproval of the selection which they make.

Where the Views Differ.
It should not be understood that the commission and the governor have in any sense fallen out over the matter. According to a statement of the case made by a member of the commission, there is simply a difference of opinion between them as to what the law contemplates. Governor Smith, it is the opinion of the commission that what the state wants is simply an agricultural farm. The commission, on the other hand, considers that something beyond this is contemplated. It is the opinion of the commission that the farm should possess materials in the shape of timber and brick clay for the manufacture of various products which are needed not only in the building and establishment of a permanent penitentiary, but which may be needed in the future in the work of roadbuilding and in connection with other public works in the state.

The Wimberly place, it appears, is the only one which the commission investigated which fulfills its idea in these respects. The governor found, from his standpoint, material objections to it and disapproved it.

This brings the matter to an end and the commission can look about and find a new place which meets its idea of what a prison farm should be.

The commission states it will do this just as soon as possible, and when the place is found, a recommendation to the governor will follow.

But, until that time, there is nothing to do but place the white convicts on the public roads in the manner stated.

Governor Smith's Attitude.
Governor Smith, in speaking of the matter, said he had no idea as to what the commission proposed to do, but regretted that the matter was not within his control, as he believed he could,

MRS. MARY YANCEY ADJUDGED INSANE

Claimed Whisky Has Affected Her Mind—Case to Be Appealed.

Mrs. Mary J. Yancey, of 121 Crumley street, was yesterday adjudged to be a person of unsound mind and a fit subject for the state sanitarium at Milledgeville by the jury before Ordinary John R. Wilkinson. Attorneys for Mrs. Yancey announced immediately after the verdict was rendered that the case will be appealed. In the meantime Mrs. Yancey will be at large until the new hearing is given in the superior court.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Yancey was arrested on a writ of lunacy sworn out by Dr. T. C. Davidson, at the instance of Mrs. Yancey's son, John Yancey, aged 21 years, and was placed in jail. She was then released on habeas corpus proceedings by Judge Reid, of the city court. The trial, which culminated in a sentence against her, was begun on Wednesday.

It is charged that Mrs. Yancey's mind has become unsound by reason of continual indulgence in whisky. John Yancey, her son, who was instrumental in bringing the proceedings against his mother, stated to the jury that he wished his mother placed in the sanitarium until she regained her normal mind.

Mrs. Yancey's attorneys, who are Malvern Hill, Hines & Jordan and W. C. Munday, contend that she is perfectly sane. Alex W. Stephens and Claude Smith are attorneys for the defendant.

Mrs. Yancey has been living in Atlanta for more than thirty years, and owns several pieces of property. She and her husband were separated as a result of a divorce suit. There are two children, John Yancey and Ben Yancey, who is 18 years of age.

T Miss Ware.

Miss Betsy Ware, of Hopkinstonville, Ky., arrives Sunday to spend a week with Miss Gladys Levin, and Miss Levin will entertain informally in her honor.

To Mrs. Foster.

Mrs. Arthur Montgomery was hostess yesterday at a neighborhood tea, and the occasion was a delightful one to introduce Mrs. Betsy Ware, formerly of Shreveport, who is making her home in Atlanta.

The reception rooms of Mrs. Montgomery's attractive home on Ponce de Leon avenue had a handsome decoration in palms, ferns and poinsettias, and in the dining room pink and green was the color combination used with tasteful effect. The tea table, with its clumpy lace mats, had a central vase of pink carnations, the silver candlesticks had pink shades, and the candles and ices were pink. At the punch table in a corner Mrs. H. H. Cooley presided.

Mrs. Montgomery was handsomely gowned in gray messaline and lace, and Mrs. Foster wore old rose messaline.

At the Lunch Room.

Not the usual cold, unattractive luncheon too often served by amateurs at church restaurants, but appetizing hot dishes and the delectable of salads and other cold things are making the lunch room in the House that Jack-Built a continued success, the ladies of the Sacred Heart church again today in charge. From 12 until 3 o'clock are the luncheon hours, and a general patronage is invited.

This afternoon there will be a grab bag for the children and ice cream, cake and home-made candy, as well as the usual delicious tea and accompanying dainties for the grown people.

Sacred Cantata.

"The Seven Last Words of Christ," a sacred cantata by Th. DuBois, is a musical work of unusual beauty to be sung tomorrow night at St. Luke's church. The regular choir will be assisted by other well-known singers, and the occasion will be one of musical interest.

Young Ladies' Restaurant.

At 43 Peachtree street, the young ladies of Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church are serving good hot meals daily. The restaurant will be open during the coming week. The hungry man is guaranteed satisfaction. Regular dinner 50 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hirsch will receive their friends at their home on Washington street, Sunday, March 28, from 4 until 6 and 8:30 until 11 o'clock, at reception in honor of their daughter, Madeline, and Mr. Bert Lillenthal.

Plans for Tissue Paper Ball.

Mrs. William Lawson Peel and the young ladies who are to dance the Tissue Paper Ball met yesterday morning at Segado's for rehearsal. Mrs. Peel is chairman of the committee and the participants in the dance include a number of Atlanta's loveliest young women.

They will wear costumes representing pink roses and white chrysanthemums, and the figures of the dance concluding with a tableau featuring will be one of the picturesque scenes of the ball.

In the afternoon Mrs. John D. Little held a meeting of the costume committee, the ladies discussing the artistic possibilities in tissue paper costumes and planning to give in the three daily papers hints pertaining to costumes worn at these functions in New York and Chicago.

A letter was read from one of the writers in "Vogue," giving valuable hints, and Mrs. Little displayed a number of exquisite designs sent her by a New York artist.

These designs were the same inspiring costumes of the New York tissue paper ball.

Costumes representing not only flowers, but the peasants of all nations, can be made of tissue paper, and the costume committee hold themselves in readiness to give any information or suggestion in their possession.

Mrs. John Grant, Mrs. Charles A. Conklin and Mrs. Robert Shelden were appointed as a committee to cooperate with the press in giving information about costumes.

"Do not give this design or that one to anybody," was the request made by many in selecting their costumes. A blonde beauty of charming face having selected as her very own the costume of a "pantry," and another that of a "blue bell."

The prettiest costumes made of paper

are those for Indians, Japanese or Chinese, and it is probable that a "Madame Butterfly" dance may be added to the list, with a group of Atlanta beauties, dressed in Japanese costumes and doing the fan and parasol dance. An Indian dance, too, has been suggested by another enthusiast.

To See Motor-Climb.

A number of parties are being arranged to witness the automobiles climb the hill on Stewart avenue today.

THEATERS

At the Grand.

Tim Murphy, in his favorite comedy, "Old Innocence," appeared at the Grand last night to an audience which was more than ever before delighted with his clean and heart stirring acting.

Mr. Murphy is known to all local theater-goers, he is in a class all to himself, and no more can be said but that he is the same Tim. At the end of the second act the audience strongly demanded that little curtain speech of his, and he won him many friends who had never been privileged of his acquaintance. In speaking of his leaving the south for the north, he said there should be no reason why he should not make good, for "God is good to the Irish, and with a Jew manager it ought to be a go."

The company is small in numbers, but up to the mark, every one. Hallet Thompson as Flint Green, brother of "Old Innocence," was excellent, and James Dudley as Ben, his nephew, played well the part of a father-pecked son, Miss Aubrey Powell, as his wife, and Miss Ina Brooks, as his daughter, were all that could be asked.

"Old Innocence" will conclude his engagement with a matinee and night today.

At the Orpheum.

Only two more opportunities remain for Atlanta theatergoers to witness one of the best bills of vaudeville yet seen at the Orpheum. A matinee today and a performance tonight, and Gus Edwards' Blonde Typewriters, Sidney Dean & Co., Mairone and Kenney, Harry Green, Charles Remon, Thomas Ryan and the others of a host of stars will have closed their engagement at the Orpheum. Special interest centers in the announcement that next week Silvers, the king of clowns, and Sam J. Curtis & Co. of five, will be the head-liners.

At the Lyric.

It's a far cry from George M. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones," the great musical comedy with a big heavy chorus, which appears at the Lyric next week, and "Convict 999," the thrilling melodrama by A. H. Woods, which is playing to crowded houses at the theater tonight and tonight close the engagement of the latter.

The Musical Festival.

Will be the greatest gathering of musical talent the south has ever known. If you want to enjoy it, come to us. UNDER FIRE

resses, the investigation takes on all the solemnity of a court inquiry.

The committee first considered two ordinances which had been introduced in council providing that the superintendent of the street paving shall be taken from the city engineer and placed with the commissioner of public works. It was these ordinances that started the investigation.

Before Mr. Collier was heard from as to his charges against the city engineer, Alderman Huddleston said that he had heard a lot of talk about there being factions in council, over this matter, as well as factions in the police board.

"I have heard it stated," said Alderman Huddleston, "that I would have to do whatever Alderman Hancock and Commissioner Collier wanted done, as they owned a controlling interest in my printing plant. All such talk is mere nonsense and rot."

Will Go to the Bottom.

All the members of the committee agreed to go to the bottom of the whole question, and settle once and for all the trouble that has existed between the city engineer and the commissioner of public works for several years.

It was decided that Mr. Collier make his charges first, and then state how he expected to prove them. The asphalt paved streets were first acted upon. Mr. Collier stated that, because of a lack of proper inspection, the asphalt streets had been poorly paved, and were wearing out too soon. He said there were only two ways to prove this—one by cutting out sections of the asphalt streets and using a little horse sense, and the other by getting an expert to make an inspection. Mr. Collier said something about dealing only with the asphalt pavement, whereupon Captain Clayton rose quickly to his feet and exclaimed:

"I object to anything being withdrawn. He has made his charges; let him prove them, if he can."

Upon request of Mr. Collier, the committee called for the specifications and contracts under which the following streets had been paved with asphalt: Whitehall, from Windsor to the Southern railway; Whitehall, from the Central railway to the Southern railway; Peters, from the viaduct to Walker street; Pryor, from Mitchell to Kenny's alley; Nelson, from Madison to Forsyth.

When asked about Peachtree street, which was the last to be paved with that asphalt, Mr. Collier stated that he had recently taken out a sample of that pavement and found it to be in "pretty good condition."

Mr. Collier stated that his department had been called to make over six thousand patches in one year on the asphalt streets. He claimed that the pavement had failed to last, either because the asphalt had been laid too thin or was not properly mixed.

Mayor Maddox asked Mr. Collier if a pavement showed a wear of as much as an inch in two years, if that would be any proof that the city engineer should be blamed and that the pavement was not laid according to specifications.

Mr. Collier called upon the committee to make a personal inspection of all the asphalt streets, and the committee agreed to do so.

Captain Clayton Makes Answer.

Captain Clayton was asked to answer Mr. Collier's charges as to the asphalt pavement. He replied that he had witnessed present, some fifteen in number, whom he would place upon the stand and disprove every charge that Mr. Collier had made.

Captain Clayton's first witness was T. H. Lasley, president of the Southern Paving and Construction Company. Mr. Lasley stated that he had been in the asphalt paving business for twenty years. He said it was impossible to lay asphalt of an equal thickness on any street and some places must be thinner than others.

"An asphalt pavement," said Mr. Lasley, "may be reduced in thickness by the pavement. It is, therefore, no test of a pavement to show that it has been reduced in thickness."

While he was on the stand, Mr. Lasley was incidentally asked why his company had not paid for repairs on pavements when it had given bond to do so. He replied that he had made some repairs in Atlanta, but refused to make others because the street car track had injured the pavement. Mr. Lasley was still on the stand when the court of inquiry adjourned until 2:30 o'clock.

The Afternoon Session.

At the afternoon session no further questions were asked Mr. Lasley.

S. L. Craney, of Chattanooga, general manager of the Southern Paving and Construction Company, took the stand. He stated that Atlanta's streets had been paved by his company and the city's inspectors had done their full duty. He said first-class asphalt, properly mixed, had been used, and the work well done. Atlanta's asphalt-paved streets compared favorably with other cities. He said no line marks were used, but the thickness of the pavement was judged by the eye and the loads hauled.

Judge Candler asked Mr. Craney if a pavement laid with two inches of asphalt showed only a half inch after two years, what would such a condition indicate, and the witness replied that it might be due to either poor asphalt or great wear from travel. He said the city's inspector made thorough tests and understood his business.

He stated that if too much sand was used the asphalt would not be compressed by the roller.

In answer to questions by Commissioner Collier, Mr. Craney said he used 10 per cent of Trinidad asphalt. Mr. Collier raised the point, if 10 per cent of asphalt was used, there would not be that percentage of bitumen.

Mr. Collier pressed the witness for an answer, as an expert, to the question what would cause the pavement to disintegrate in a few years if the foundation was still good? Mr. Craney replied that the pavement might wash away or crack from contraction of the ground. He asked Mr. Collier not to laugh when asking questions. The witness did not think that two samples taken in each block would be a test of the condition of a street pavement.

Mr. Craney concluded by remarking that he depended for a living on his reputation as an asphalt expert and Mr. Collier "couldn't put any black-eye on it, neither."

Said Work Was Well Done.

The next witness was Tom O'Neal, who laid the pavement on some of the streets for the Southern Paving and Construction Company. He said that the city's inspectors had carefully inspected and measured the thickness of all asphalt pavement. In answer to a question by Alderman Huddleston, he stated that if the asphalt pavement was now level with the manholes, the indication would be that the asphalt was as thick now as it was when laid.

The witness said that rolling or uneven pavement was due to too much asphalt or gas leakage. In reply to a question by the mayor, he said that the specifications called for a special percentage of asphalt or sand. Asphalt can be laid, he stated, with one-eighth or one-quarter of an inch of the thickness required. He believed that an asphalt pavement might wear one-half inch in two years.

Dr. Charles D'Alvigny was the next witness. He stated that he was the inspector for the city when the asphalt pavement was laid. He said he closely watched the laying of all pavement and carefully measured the thickness of all such pavements and saw that they came up to specifications.

Captain Clayton stated that the material used by Mr. Collier in making repairs was not up to the standard, according to experts.

"It is not my business," said Captain Clayton, "to criticize Mr. Collier's work, but if I chose to do so I could fill a volume. Since he uses poor material in making repairs I can't see how the city could be benefited by putting under him the inspection of street paving. He admits himself that he is not an expert."

Dr. D'Alvigny said that asphalt streets which were undulating could be rolled and made level on a hot summer day.

Captain Clayton stated that no asphalt pavement could last longer than between ten and fifteen years.

R. E. Bullard testified that he had charge of the rollers when the Asphalt Paving Company of Georgia paved Peachtree street and he saw Dr. D'Alvigny inspecting the work every day.

Mr. Venable Takes the Stand.

Samuel H. Venable was the next witness. He said he was president of the Asphalt Paving Company of Georgia, which laid asphalt on Peachtree, Mitchell and North Pryor streets. Mr. Venable said that he paid out $1,200 more on Peachtree street than he received for the work, and this was mainly due to Dr. D'Alvigny being very strict about the thickness of the asphalt, which had to be at least two inches. The asphalt was the very best material that could be purchased. The sand cost $1.75 a yard and Venezuela asphalt, the very best, was used. The sand was inspected three times in New York.

Councilman Amoroso asked Mr. Collier if he wanted to ask Mr. Venable any questions, and Mr. Collier replied that he did not.

This closed the testimony so far as the asphalt pavement was concerned. Mr. Collier stated that all the testimony on the asphalt pavement in behalf of the city engineer was from the contractors and others who had been interested in the work.

The committee decided to finish its investigation of the asphalt by a personal inspection of the paved streets.

Bridge Charge Taken Up.

The next charge of Mr. Collier was in regard to the pavement on the Forsyth street, Mitchell and the Whitehall street railroad bridges. One criticism of Mr. Collier was that on these bridges no sand users had been used. Grant Wilkins took the stand and as a bridge expert stated that it was impossible to use cambers on steel bridges. Captain Clayton remarked that if Mr. Collier had known what Mr. Wilkins built the Forsyth and Mitchell street bridges he wouldn't have criticized them.

"I am the man Mr. Collier is after," said Captain Clayton.

Mr. Wilkins said he had known Captain Clayton since 1874.

"I want to say," remarked Mr. Wilkins, "that the city's interests are always safe in Captain Clayton's hands."

Byron Lowders, in answer to a charge by Mr. Collier that the concrete foundation on Edgewood avenue was not good, stated that he superintended the work, and it was as good as money and first-class material could make it. Mr. Lowders said he believed the wood-block paving on Edgewood avenue ought to last about fifteen years. He believed the street to have been paved in a first-class manner.

The Wood Block Charge.

Mr. Collier further charged that the city engineer called for a specific gravity for creosote oil for wood block of 1.03, when it ought to have been 1.12. Captain Clayton said his first specification was for 1.12, but he was informed by experts that a pure creosote oil ran in a specific gravity between 1.03 and 1.05, and anything higher was not used in treating wood blocks. There was only one firm that would furnish the 1.12 specific gravity, and creosote oil of that gravity was not pure. The specifications for creosoting wood block was then changed.

V. H. Kreighabier took the stand and stated that creosote oil of a specific gravity of 1.03 to 1.05 was the best for treating wood block. Mr. Kreighabier is a general agent for building supplies, and was at one time a civil engineer. He believed that the wood block used in Atlanta was as thoroughly inspected as could possibly have been done.

Mr. Collier read the specifications for wood-block treatment in other cities, and they required a creosote oil of 1.12 specific gravity.

Captain Clayton said he admitted that some other cities called for the 1.12 specific gravity.

"Those cities were fooled," stated Captain Clayton, "just as I was three years ago."

Executive Session Held.

Mr. Collier and Captain Clayton both announced that the case was closed, and the committee went into executive session.

The necessity of a personal inspection of the street paving was discussed. Mayor Maddox asked the question if the asphalt pavement showed a loss of an inch in thickness would that prove that the pavement was not properly laid, and that the city engineer or his inspector was to blame. Mr. Collier said he was in favor of reporting favorably the ordinances placing the inspection of the street pavement under the commissioner of public works.

One of the ordinances called for the appointment of street inspectors to be appointed by the commissioner of public works. The appointments are now made by the city engineer.

Councilman Amoroso moved to amend so the mayor can appoint the inspectors, no matter which department superintends the work.

Alderman Pittman thought that the inspectors ought to be appointed by the department that has the work done. He believed that the inspection in the past had been well done. He did not think the engineering department should be criticized for the bad condition of some of the streets. He was in favor of consolidating the office of city engineer and commissioner of public works.

The committee decided to take no action until after the street paving was inspected.

The inspection will take place next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Collier and Captain Clayton will be asked to accompany the committee. Every paved street in the city will be inspected and the pavement closely inspected.

The Test of Time

Time is the supreme test of dental work. A filling, a crown or a full set of teeth might look very good at first, but if it does not maintain its good looks, either the workmanship is poor or the materials are inferior. But you will say, "How am I to know the quality of the work until after it is paid for?" The answer is—go to an experienced dentist with an established reputation. We have been in the profession for 19 years, and are doing some of the best dental work in Atlanta.

Bad Sleep?

You Are Sick

and need a tonic when you can't sleep. Your nerves are weak. Your system is out of order. There is a cog loose somewhere.

Are you a woman?

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Cardui not only builds up women's flagging nerve forces, but has been found, by thousands who use it, to relieve womanly pains and act as a health restorer to women suffering from women's ills.

You will find its action is building, strengthening, restorative, vitalizing. Cardui makes you feel good and helps you to do your daily work, whatever it may be.

"I never had anything do me as much good as Cardui," writes Mrs. Jennie McGill, of Wabago, Va. "I am still using Cardui and am so much better and improving every day. I had been troubled with female complaints for over (10) years. I could not walk or stand on my feet and was almost confined to the house for a long time."

"Now I can walk anywhere, for Cardui has done me more good than all the doctors. I am thankful that Cardui is in reach of all suffering women, for it is worth its weight in gold."

Reaction is postponed, in spite of the rising out of the demand and from this it is inferred that there is no inclination to the right. The situation remains, however, at a very low stage. Interest centered chiefly in a few lower level stocks. The market for the commodities had no other reason, so far as revealed, than the suspected operation of pools in the stocks. The railroad market was dominated by the Gould group. The dominant showed some life. The Gould group was unevenly strong also, with other news than vague rumors, and the market for the commodities was meeting the imminent obligations of the Warship by the maturity of notes. The market for the commodities was meeting out of a comprehensive plan to reorganize the finances of the Missouri Pacific.

Wall Street said the statement that interest on the $100 million in bonds would be paid by the company, instead of the purchase of the coupons by the company's bankers, which would be tantamount to a new grant, was taken as evidence of growing financial strength by the company. There was an admission, however, that the company's metal was sold to have quieted down again after the more than 100 per cent advance in price. The day passed without additional engagements of gold for export, although the foreign exchange market was said to be at a support level. Discounts are receding abroad and a decline in the Bank of England's official discount rate is expected. It was estimated that the April disbursements in New York will amount to $120,000,000, and that the monthly disbursements will be the greatest since the money on call today loaned below the
